Here at Iceland Holidays we look forward to be given the opportunity to organise your travel plans to this incredible island destination in the north Atlantic. Whether your trip is for a holiday, business or special event, for a short break or a longer fly drive or escorted tour we can help you. Iceland Holidays is a small independent tour operator and for your financial protection we are licensed by the Civil Aviation Authority to provide package holidays including flights, accommodation and car hire to passengers flying from the United Kingdom. Our ATOL (Air Tour Operators licence) number is 6190. We have been organising holidays specifically to Iceland for 15 years so we have a wealth of knowledge and experience vital to making sure your trip is both a safe and enjoyable one. We take care to make sure you are able to fit in as much as is comfortably possible within the time available. We have taken great care to select our partners in Iceland, hoteliers and car rental and we are confident you will be more than happy with the service they provide. Your journey will start from one of five UK airports flying Icelandair from Heathrow, Manchester and Glasgow or Iceland Express from Stansted or Gatwick. The flight duration is a comfortable 3 hours from London 2.5 hours from Manchester and 2 hours from Glasgow. There is no jet lag since Iceland operates all year round on G.M.T. which means there is no time difference in winter and only 1 hour time lag in summertime.

Iceland is a great leisure or adventure travel destination whatever takes your fancy, it’s easy to get there, stunning scenery, vast open spaces to enjoy, leisurely spas and pools and is virtually free from crime, there are no political problems no unusual diseases and there are no creepy crawlies, alligators or snakes. Please read on to discover more information about Iceland, holiday itinerary ideas, hotel, flight and car hire information and then hopefully you will be ready to book your trip with us! Please don’t hesitate to call and speak to us if you need any further information.

Regards
Gareth Gee Chief Executive Iceland Holidays.

Iceland is often referred to as "the land of fire and ice" as glaciers and icecaps lie next to steaming hot springs, geysers and volcanoes.

Population: 300,000.
Iceland (103,000 sq km) is similar in size to England. The majority of the population (60%) is situated in and around the capital city of Reykjavik.

Currency: Iceland has its own currency the Icelandic Kronur or ISK. The exchange rate hovers between 110 and 150 ISK to the pound. In September 2008 it was 150 ISK to £1.00 GBP. A beer in Iceland costs 800 ISK or £5.00, a litre of unleaded petrol costs 165 ISK or £1.10.

Time Zone: Iceland is on GMT all year round so in the winter period it is the same as UK but in British Summer Time it is 1 hour behind. On 21st June Iceland is truly the land of the midnight sun but on 21st December the day is very short indeed. It is light almost 24 hours a day in June and dark for a similar period in December.

Climate: In Reykjavik which is in the south of Iceland the average temperature is 11°C (52°F) in summer and -1°C (30°F) in winter. The climate in Iceland is surprisingly mild for its northerly latitude (66 degrees) due to the warming effect of the Gulf Stream. The weather is however very changeable with plenty of wind and rain so come prepared for a very mixed bag. Good shoes or boots, fleeces, rain proof coats and a good pair of sun glasses.

Official Language: Whilst the official language is Icelandic most Icelanders speak two or more other languages. The most common being English, Danish, Swedish and German.

The capital is a city full of contrast, from the bustling harbour and fishing port with its evocative smells and excellent fish restaurants, to the bustle of the modern shopping centre a short walk away.

There are many lovely old buildings to see in Reykjavik including the Parliament house, built in 1881, and the old Government building, which dates from the mid-eighteenth century. Both are in the old centre of Reykjavik between the harbour and the lake.

Delightful cuisine
There are over 80 fine restaurants in Reykjavik serving many of the countries specialty dishes. Some of the best fish in the World can be tried at the restaurants around the harbour.

Nightlife
Reykjavik has an extremely active nightlife. The surprising variety of pubs offer a great night out and most serve meals as well as wines and beers. There are also several nightclubs, which open until 3am on Friday and Saturday nights. Other nights the nightclubs will close at 1am.

"The Smokeless City", is the most northerly capital in the World. Reykjavik is a modern capital with international standard hotels and restaurants. It also has a remarkable old world charm and there are many old buildings which add to this character. Reykjavik is thought to be the cleanest capital city in the world.

Golden Circle (260 km)
Drive the Golden Circle taking in the sites including Pingvellir National Park Rift Valley, the site of Iceland's first Parliament, and the point where Europe meets America at the continental Divide. Continue on to the world famous geothermal area of Geysir, and then onto the majestic Gulfoss waterfall. Activities include Horse riding, Skidooing on the Glacier, and river rafting.

Snaefellsness (200km)
On Snaefellsnes Peninsula a stunning natural landscape culminating in the spectacular glacier on Snaefellsjokull volcano. The western coastline abounds with strange rock formations and abundant birdlife, black sand beaches and quiet fishing villages. Icelandics believe that it is an area of mystical energy and power. Whale watching boats go from Olafsvik and Stykkisholmur (May - Sept) you are most likely to see Bottlenose dolphins, Blue whales, Killer Whales and Humpback whales.

Husavik (480 km)
Husavik is located in north-eastern Iceland a pleasant 91 km from Akureyri and is the whale watching capital of Europe. You can take wooden whale watching boats known as good boats between May and September. You are likely to see Blue, Killer, Fin or Mink Whales the latter being the most common. You will almost definitely see dolphins and there are numerous hot ocean boats in the hope of a fish supper. Right on the harbour is Iceland’s National Whale Museum which boasts a collection of stuffed Icelandic birds, fish and mammals. The swimming pool is one of the best in Iceland and is open long and convenient hours. In addition to the fabulous pool it has saunas, jacuzzis, tennis courts and a solarium. Close to Akureyri in the area known as Latrabjarg there is the worlds northern most 18 hole golf course. In the height of summer with the benefit of 24 hours of daylight you can play around the clock.

Egilsstadir (654 km)
Located in eastern Iceland, Egilsstadir provides an ideal place to meander through the fjords and visit the small communities that are dotted about. The beautiful town of Egilsstadir provides a heaven as an overnight stop with some fine restaurants and cafes. Visit the Icelandic Forest or take a cruise on Lake Largafloi.

Isafjordur (457 km)
The Western Fjords are one of the most breathtakingly beautiful and least visited corners of Iceland. The Western Fjords form the most westerly part of Iceland and geologically are very old. The mountains are high and the coastline indented by deep narrow fjords. At the foot of the cliffs you can see seals basking in the sun and whales are often seen off shore. There is an area of hot springs near Reykjanes at the south eastern end of Isafjordur. The town is surrounded by mountains and the sea.
More to explore

Hella (94 km)
Hella in South Iceland 100 Km from Reykjavik provides a perfect base to visit the region's attractions which are Landmannalaugar, Porsmork and Hekla nature reserves.

The Ranga River is a top spot for salmon fishing and river rafting.

Blue Lagoon (52 km)
Grindavik is another quaint fishing village but it is more famous for the local attraction of Blue Lagoon located nearby.
The Blue Lagoon’s natural hot mineral water is an offshoot of the nearby geothermal power station. This produces a not to miss Geothermal spa which is the perfect way to treat body and soul. Relaxing in the warm (39°C) geothermal seawater in a fascinating steampy environment is a one-of-a-kind experience. The Blue Lagoon is open every day, year round.

Myvatn (480 km)
Myvatn lies in the northeast of Iceland on the western edge of the volcanic active zone that runs across the country from southwest to northeast.
The natural beauty of Myvatn and its surroundings is unique and has been sculpted by volcanic eruptions through the ages. In addition to two swimming pools, there are numerous bathing possibilities in Myvatnsveit. The most interesting one is the Lagoon, which is similar to the Blue Lagoon in Sudurnes, and for rinsing off the clay afterwards there is a natural steam bath in Jardbadsholar. Myvatn is one of the best fishing lakes in Iceland and the bird life in the Myvatn area is world famous.

Skjálfandafljót (327 km)
Skjálfandafljót is Iceland’s second largest National Park after Pingvellir in the so-called Glacier Country, a remote but attractive part of the south. The park covers an area of about 1,600 sq km which spreads over three valley glaciers of Askja, Mýrdalsjökull and Skjálfandafljót on the southern fringes of Vatnajökull, Europe’s largest glacier ice-cap. Founded in 1956, the park is one of the nation’s distinctive natural attractions of extravagant beauty.

Blondus (244 km)
Blondus is a small seaside town in the north-western part of Iceland. Approximately 1,000 people live in the town.
The Blondus region is known for its textile museum, a Romanesque stone church at Thingeyrar, and for excellent fishing spots. The Bláhult River, which divides the town in two parts, is one of the best rivers for salmon fishing in Iceland.
The region also has many small lakes with a lot of trout. The fishing season begins in June and finishes in September. Other interests include bird-watching, canoeing, golfing, hiking, kayaking, and river rafting. Golfers can enjoy a 9-hole golf course which is located just north of the town.

Husafell (140km)
Husafell is a lovely, wooded lava area with a nice swimming pool, sauna, and a 9 hole golf course, horse rental, organized walks and longer tours, such as glacier excursions and lava cave trips can be booked locally.
The area also offers some excellent hiking with trails leading off into the Husafellsskógur forest. One of the main sites is the Hálsmunadstrænn lavafield which was formed when magma poured out from underneath the north-western edge of the Langjökull and entered the Hvita, you are able to walk on the lava.
The nearby Langjökull Glacier is a great location for skidosing.

For those wishing to explore Eastern Iceland but who don't want the long return drive back we can offer a combination of a fly-drive and fly-tour holiday to make the most of your time in Eastern Iceland. This involves taking an internal flight at the beginning of your holidays from Reykjavik to Egilsstadir in the east. The emphasis is on spending a maximum of 2 nights in the south and a longer duration given to you in the east of Iceland. The following itinerary example can be reduced or increased as you wish. We recommend a minimum 7 night stay.

Flying Tour 8 nights 9 days

Day 1. Fly to Iceland from UK take fly bus and stay 1 night in Reykjavik.

Day 2-4. Take internal flight from Reykjavik to Egilsstadir. Collect a car rental from airport. Stay 3 nights in Eastern Iceland based in Egilsstadir and enjoy the charm that the East has to offer.

Day 5-6. Drive south to the harbour town of Hofn and stay 2 nights.

Day 7. Drive along the South Coast past sites such as the iceberg lagoon at Jokulsarlon and Skaftafell National park then on to Vik where you will stay 1 night.

Day 8. Drive back to Reykjavik and stay 1 night at the blue lagoon to round off the holiday.

Day 9. Return to Keflavik ready for return flight home.

* This package is based upon internal flight on your outward journey, however it can be done in reverse if preferred.

Iceland Internal Flying Tours

Save valuable time on your vacation!
A Flying tour gives you the chance to get to the part of Iceland you most want to see quicker and easier, therefore giving you the extra time and opportunity to fly directly to Iceland’s impressive nature without time consuming car drives. Flying tour holidays include return international flights from the UK, internal flights, car hire and accommodation.

Western Fjords, fly to Isafjordur. The Western Fjords are the most remote area of Iceland and are a paradise for nature enthusiasts. This area can now be easily accessed by flying directly from Reykjavik to Isafjordur. The Western Fjords are one of the most breathtakingly beautiful and least visited corners of Iceland.

Northern Iceland, fly to Akureyri. In this region of diverse and incredible natural beauty you will find something on offer for all ages. Akureyri, the capital of the North, offers all necessary services to travelers. Visit Husavik Iceland’s home of Whale watching and the location of the Icelandic Whale Museum. Visit Lake Myvatn where you will find active volcanoes, steam spouts, bubbling clay and Sulphur pits, not forgetting the North’s very own Blue Lagoon; the breathtaking nature baths. There is also the waterfalls of Godafoss and Dettifoss, the latter Europe’s mightiest!

Eastern Iceland fly to Egilsstadir. Eastern Iceland is regarded by many Icelandics to be the most beautiful region Iceland has to offer. It is true that the great variety of landscape seen with its snow-topped, craggy peaks, spectacular fjords and a wealth of beautiful waterfalls is not to be missed by any keen photographer. The East is an undiscovered realm of wonder and beauty, offering many great opportunities for hiking. Seydisfjordur is the principal port of East Iceland. The drive from Egilsstadir to Hofn along the Eastern Fjords could be described as the fly drive of your life.

North, West and East Iceland offers a multitude of exciting nature experiences year round along with good opportunities to practice adventure sport. Here you’ll find everything from Icelandic horses, birds and whales to sites for skiing, golfing and river rafting.

The Blue Lagoon was created when hot water from the nearby "Svartsengi" geothermal power plant that formed due to heat exchange was discharged into the adjacent lava field.

The Blue Lagoon is a unique wonder of nature, a pool of natural mineral rich geothermal seawater in the middle of a lava field. The lagoon is rich in a unique natural combination of minerals. Blue-green algae and white Silica mud form a light natural sediment on the bottom of the lagoon and give the lagoon its soft, milky, aquamarine colour.

The Blue Lagoon escorted tours described below are suitable for those staying in Reykjavik. The tours include hotel pick up and Blue Lagoon entrance fee. If you have hired a rental car as part of your holiday you can drive to the Blue Lagoon and the entry fee 1400 ISK = £12. There are various other spa treatments and massage available at extra cost. We offer accommodation convenient for the Blue Lagoon at The Northern Light Inn, Grindavik or the Lagoon Lodge, Vogar (see map). The Blue Lagoon is open all year round.

For those on a Reykjavik City based holiday not wishing to drive we offer a range of escorted site seeing coach and jeep tours. The Tours are operated by Reykjavik Excursions (unless otherwise stated) who are Iceland’s leading organiser of day tours since 1968. The tours pick up from most central Reykjavik hotels and are staffed by professional tour guides speaking various languages. The following are a few of the most popular tours and the prices stated are subject to change. A wider range of day tours are available on request.
Skidoo trips are available in the right weather conditions at Landjökull, Snaefellsjökull and Vatnajökull (jökull means icecap) all are within day trip driving distance of Reykjavik. A 2 hour skidoo experience will start from £60 per adult and £45 per child. Longer glacier expeditions are available especially at Vatnajökull the largest icecap. Available all year round.

What better way to explore the beautiful countryside than by Icelandic horse which are world famous for their glorious mane and unique fifth trot. There are numerous stables close to Reykjavik. There are also many tours which involve bare back horse riding. Tours include the provision of suitable safety equipment. Available all year round.

The northern lights are a spectacular natural phenomenon, which appear during the winter months across the Arctic Sky. Also known as the Aurora Borealis. Tours are weather permitting as the lights can only be seen when certain weather conditions are fulfilled, dry crisp cold clear still evenings. Available October-April Friday, Saturday and Sunday 20:30 Weather Permitting.

The best locations for whale watching are in the west at Snaefellsnes or at the northern town of Husavik. For short city breaks boats also go whale watching from Reykjavik and Hafnarfjordur. Tours leave from Reykjavik, Snaefellsness and Husavik. For leg whale sightings the northern tours departing from Snaefellsnes and Husavik are best. Sightings of the magnificent Blue whale are best through the summer months. 3 hour trip from Reykjavik £65 5-7 hour trips from Snaefellsnes and Husavik £90 Available late April through to early September.

Fishing

With 100 salmon rivers and countless rivers and lakes for trout fishing, Iceland is the place that most fishermen wish to visit. Its internationally acclaimed stock management programmes make good catches possible. The country is a unique combination of a modern society with vast areas of unspoilt and sparsely populated countryside. Fishermen, therefore, have a wide choice of places to fish with comfortable lodges and facilities close at hand. All the main rivers can be reached by road and frequent domestic air services.

River Rafting £75 - £100

(Includes Safety equipment, and guidance)

A fun experience and great way to be with the nature that Iceland has plenty to offer. There are many areas which offer river rafting close to Reykjavik. A good introduction to this exhilarating extreme activity. Available All year (Weather permitting)

4x4 Super-Jeep - from £150 per person

(Includes- dependant on tour operator and car)

A great way to explore Iceland is by Super Jeep. An eight hour tour encompassing the Golden Circle with pick up and drop off at your hotel. 4x4 Hire companies allowing you to hire your own jeep and explore the rugged land. Price will vary dependant on number of people and tour operator. Available All year, Weather permitting

The Northern Lights (evening tours from £50)

(Includes- Guidance, Icelandic “Kleina”, Hot Chocolate)

The northern lights are a spectacular natural phenomenon, which appear during the winter months across the Arctic Sky. Also known as the Aurora Borealis. Tours are weather permitting as the lights can only be seen when certain weather conditions are fulfilled, dry crisp cold clear still evenings. FLY to the U.S via Iceland

Iceland & U.S.A

Combine a holiday to the U.S.A with Iceland experiencing two exciting destinations within one holiday. Both locations can offer you a wide range of memorable experiences with many exhilarating adventures just around the corner. This versatile trip allows you the best of both worlds entirely at your discretion.

STOP OVER IN ICELAND

Stay up to three nights on your outbound or inbound trip to America. We recommend staying the first night in the unique Blue Lagoon, a geothermal spa. Then two nights on your return in the stunning city of Reykjavik, the most northerly capital in the world. Take in the dramatic sights of the Golden Circle which include the popular Gullfoss waterfall and the world famous geothermal area of Geysir. A truly magnificent experience.

NEW YORK

Arrive in the bustling cosmopolitan city of the Big Apple. Where boredom never strikes, fulfill your time exploring one of the most famous places in the world. Climb the Empire State Building and marvel at the New York skyline, take the Staten Island ferry over to Brooklyn and see the Statue of Liberty. Stroll through Central Park and pay tribute to the vast destruction of the twin towers that is now Ground Zero. Check out Times Square and stroll along Broadway.

BOSTON

The gateway to Massachusetts and one of the oldest cities in America. Boston is the state capital and is a romantic place with narrow streets and fine restaurants. Take the 2.5 mile Freedom Trail which links 16 iconic sights in American History. Catch a fun boat trip up the Harbor or enjoy one of many world class museums. Compact and walkable this place offers much to do and see.

SKIING IN NEW ENGLAND

Combine a weeks skiing in the beautiful New England state of Vermont with three days in Iceland. You will fly from the UK to Boston Massachusetts via Iceland and transfer to the superbly manicured snow sure slopes of Killington or Stowe. This 10 to14 day holiday staying in top class accommodation offers the perfect travel and ski combo. Iceland & New England
